5.9: Prototyping a Mobile App

The landing page looks great! I think you should bring everything down a little bit, because there's a bit too much space at the bottom.
I love your home page, the custom buttons with illustrations are fantastic. The only thing I would add is a header that says "Home" at the very top because the search bar feels very high. (The way you have it on the doctors, vaccine pass, etc pages is perfect!)
The back arrow on the doctors, vaccine pass, etc. isn't aligned with the title of the page, needs to move up just a tad!
On the medical records page, the name of the record and the right arrow aren't aligned, if they were centered I think it'd be perfect.
Overall I think this is lovely! Such a great job

IOS
Screen 1 z Welcome - icon with medical kit and with blood probe are smaller than the rest
Interesting and differentiated illustrations
Home screen - I would align the profile and home icon with the overall margins, now they look slightly too pushed to the screen edges
Home screen - I really love the illustrations - thanks to them the user quickly knows where to go Modal window after I added new category - it says Add more or Next. It is not so clear what is the difference. Maybe better Add next and Go to main page?
Love the idea with screen "Call doctor" and how it is graphically setAndroid
On Welcome page - same with 2 smaller icons
I guess I would keep the whole text (with word "more") on the first page. It looks like there is something lacking, and if you end with "more..." it will be enough to indicate that there is more coming
On the page "Add category" after Vaccine Pass is selected, the text "Select Image" should be aligned to margin
In the modal window that appears afterwards, I like the differentiation in primary and secondary button. I think it would be good to apply similarity to IOS, to differentiate between the two (e.g. by different text colour)
In Doctor's view (Gynekologist), when you switch between reviews and doctor's info, the elements jump a bit e.g. buttons
In call view - maybe put the video camera icon with other buttons on the bottom tab? Now it is a bit strange that it is separated, normally the user would look to switch audio and video next to each otherin general, the app looks very well planned and the flow is well-thought. It looks like all options are included, I would love to have auch an app for myself!

Positiv:
really nice and useful app, the colors also reflect the vibrations of the app and make you feel comfortable. Nice and welcoming structure, easy to learn.

Constructive
iOS:
from the welcome screen to the login screen there are no buttons but I had to click on the dots..is that what you want?
I noticed within the calendar screen, the calendar has filled in the gray corner..should it be?
I'd probably bring the home icon and profile icon from the tab bar closer to the center, just a little ... they seem to be laid out too widely.
about Android once I´ve reached the home page I am able only to add a category, nothing else is available to be navigate... is that my problem maybe? check it for me and send me again the link if you like.
About loading screen I suggest you to make them coming in with a delay rather than drag them in...in this way it will look more realistic.
